I"I am a 3D Artist with over seven years of experience, deeply passionate about the intersection of Game Design, Education, and Technology (EdTech). Throughout my career, I have evolved from creating high-end assets for mobile hits to mentoring the next generation of artists and developing immersive VR/AR serious games for medical and educational sectors. My expertise lies in balancing visual excellence with technical optimization, ensuring that interactive experiences are not only striking but also accessible and effective for learning. I am eager to leverage my background in teaching and 3D production to create engaging, meaningful experiences that bridge the gap between play and education."
